According to Joel Prakken, Chairman of Macroeconomic Advisers, LLC, “Nonfarm private employment decreased 254,000 from August to September 2009 on a seasonally adjusted basis, according to the ADP National Employment Report. September’s employment decline was the smallest since July of 2008 and employment losses have diminished significantly over the last two quarters. Nevertheless, employment, which usually trails overall economic activity, is likely to decline for at least several more months, with losses continuing to diminish.”

Prakken added, “September’s ADP Report estimates nonfarm private employment in the service-providing sector fell by 103,000. Employment in the goods-producing sector declined 151,000, with employment in the manufacturing sector dropping 74,000, about the same as last month.”

“Large businesses, defined as those with 500 or more workers, saw employment decline by 61,000, while medium-size businesses with between 50 and 499 workers declined 93,000. Employment among small-size businesses, defined as those with fewer than 50 workers, declined 100,000,” said Prakken.

Prakken went on to say, “In September, construction employment dropped 73,000. This was its thirty-second consecutive monthly decline, and brings the total decline in construction jobs since the peak in January 2007 to 1,632,000. Employment in the financial services sector dropped 19,000, the twenty-second consecutive monthly decline.”

The matched sample used to develop the ADP National Employment Report was derived from ADP data, which during the twelve month period through June 2009, averaged approximately 400,000 U.S. business clients and represented over 23 million U.S. employees. This approximately represents the size of the matched sample used this month.

Small Business Highlights – September Report:

Due to the important contribution small businesses make to economic growth, employment data that is specific to businesses with fewer than 50 employees will be reported in the ADP Small Business Report[®] each month. The ADP Small Business Report is a subset of the ADP National Employment Report.

- Total small business employment: -100,000
- Goods-producing sector: -62,000 small business jobs
- Service-providing sector: -38,000 small business jobs

Private employment among small businesses decreased by 100,000 in September, according to the ADP Small Business Report released today. Additional information about small business employment, including charts on monthly job growth and employment levels, along with historical data, is available at <http://www.smallbusinessreport.adp.com>.

“Employment among small-size businesses, defined as those with fewer than 50 workers, declined 100,000 in September. Employment losses among small-size businesses have diminished in each of the last six months. Still, employment usually trails overall economic activity, so losses are likely to continue for at least several more months,” said Joel Prakken.

About the ADP National Employment Report[®]

The ADP National Employment Report, sponsored by ADP[®], was developed and is maintained by Macroeconomic Advisers, LLC. It is a measure of employment derived from an anonymous subset of roughly 500,000 U.S. business clients. During the twelve month period through June 2009, this subset averaged approximately 400,000 U.S. business clients and over 23 million U.S. employees working in all private industrial sectors. The ADP Small Business Report[®] is a monthly estimate of private nonfarm employment among companies in the United States with 1-49 employees and is a subset of the ADP National Employment Report. The data for both reports is collected for pay periods that can be interpolated to include the week of the 12th of each month, and processed with statistical methodologies similar to those used by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics to compute employment from its monthly survey of establishments. Due to this processing, this subset is modified to make it indicative of national employment levels; therefore, the resulting employment changes computed for the ADP National Employment Report are not representative of changes in ADP's total base of U.S. business clients.

For a description of the underlying data and the statistical properties of the series, please see "ADP National Employment Report: Development Methodology" at <http://ADPemploymentreport.com/methodology.aspx>.
